DELAY ON ALASKA, SAY PASSENGERS, SPELLED DEATH

Charge Loss of Time in Ordering Passengers to Leave Ship Cost Lives

(By International News Service)

Eureka, Calif., Aug. 9.—Somewhere between Humboldt Bay and Point Corda, 31 bodies—the number now believed missing from the steamship Alaska—are either floating on the surface of the ocean or have been cast upon the beach. Such has been the history of almost every fatal shipwreck along the Blunt's Reef district, although some today held the theory that recovery of the bodies is problematical. They believed that the current would carry them to sea.

The fact that six lifeboats came ashore in the vicinity of False Cape and that large pieces of deck lumber have reached the beach, led to the general belief that in the driftwood and nests of rock along the coast, may be found a large number of the missing. An organized beach patrol was searching today every foot of the coast.

EIGHTEEN BODIES RECOVERED

Eighteen bodies have been recovered, that of an unidentified member of the crew having been washed up on the beach of Cape Mendocino late yesterday. It was found by James Neils, light keeper. Five bodies remained unidentified today, although that of a little girl was believed to be one of the Dyra twins.

Reports from Cape Mendocino today stated that the smokestack of the Alaska could be seen above the waves in clear weather. This would indicate that the wreck is resting on a shelf of the reef, soundings having shown a much greater depth of water around the reef.

Sick and injured in the hospital here were much improved today. With the exception of those unable to be moved, practically all of the passengers have gone to San Francisco. With completion of the coroner's inquest here interest centered in the federal investigation to be conducted in San Francisco.

PASSENGERS MAKE CHARGES

The coroner's jury here returned an open verdict late yesterday, simply finding that the dead came to their death through drowning.

This was in view of the conficting testimony adduced.

Passengers charged:

1. That the night was not foggy, only misty.
2. That the crew appeared to lack all experience in life boat handling.
3. That immediately after the boat struck, the passengers were not ordered to prepare for the boats, thus losing valuable time.
4. That Captain Hobey and the first mate were not on the bridge when the ship struck.

These charges were largely contradicted by the testimony of members of the crew. The jury apparently believed that it would be best for federal authorities to conduct the probe and place the blame.

LADIES' AID BENEFIT

Members of the Ladies' Aid of the Central Avenue Church, will give a musical and literary program tonight at the church. It will include vocal and whistling solos and solos on the piano, cornet and bagpipe, and readings. It will be a benefit for the society's treasury and a silver offering will be received. After the program an adjournment will be taken to the parsonage, where refreshments will be served.

HIS ADOPTED CITY

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Wickham Steel, editor of the London Times, who is in this country with Viscount Northcliffe, British peer and publisher, expressed while in this city a desire to visit different parts of the nation, especially Minnesota.

"But why Minnesota?" he was asked.

"Because," he replied blandly, "I come from there; that is my native State."

Before his astonished audience could protest, he added: "That is, once during the course of the war I found it very advisable in talking to a certain Hungarian in Switzerland to represent that I came from America, and in my improvisation I happened to think of Minnesota and adopted it as my own; so I should like to see it now."

WHY YOUNG JACKWAY DIED

(By International News Service)

EUREKA, Cal., Aug. 9.—Facing the crossroads of life and death in the Alaska wreck, John Jackway, 18-year-old Berkeley athlete, son of Professor Bernard Jackway of the University of California, found life too cruel and chose death.

This was revealed today by his sister, Isabel, who is slowly recovering in a local hospital from her harrowing experiences.

Horrified at seeing a man, crazed with fear, strangle a woman and force her from a floating mattress back into the water, young Jackway pressed his sister in close embrace, kissed her, and jumped into the water, after telling her:

"If this is the way men act—if life is so terrible—then I do not want to live. After such cruelty let me die."

His mother and sister were rescued and will recover. Young Jackway's body has been recovered.

BUSINESS MEN WANT WIDENING OF LOS FELIZ RUSHED

A majority of the business men in the San Fernando road and Los Feliz road district, are anxiously awaiting the widening of Los Feliz road, from San Fernando road to Central avenue. The widening of this thoroughfare is believed to be an absolute necessity, and the sooner the improvement is made the better it will please the residents of the entire city, they say.

It is the hope of many of the property owners, who will be affected by this improvement, that this widening operation may continue eastward as far as Glendale avenue, so as to make this street of uniform width all the way through. Several property owners are protesting against this improvement, but these are in the minority, so it is believed their protests will not be sufficient to block the work.

"From the standpoint of safety, the street should be widened," said a business man of South Glendale, yesterday. "Automobile traffic along that thoroughfare is increasing every month and at times during the day, there is a continuous line of autos going both east and west. Some idea of how automobile traffic in this section has grown may be seen by a count made yesterday afternoon. During ten minutes, at about 4:30 o'clock, a count showed that ninety machines crossed the intersection of Los Feliz and San Fernando roads. This is at the rate of 540 an hour, or 12,960 in twenty-four hours.

"In Los Feliz road, west of Central avenue, there is an angle that makes that short stretch very dangerous to motor traffic. When the widening is accomplished, this angle will be eliminated and the road will be straight, as it should be."

GENERAL TREVINO SETTLES OLD FEUD

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 9.—General Jacinto Trevino, one of the best known generals in the Mexican army and former Minister of Commerce and Industry, was detained by the police today, pending an inquiry into the sensational killing of Brigadier-General Jose Alesio Robles, brother of the former Mexican ambassador to Spain, in the heart of the residential district, late Monday.

There had been an old feud between the two men. They met late yesterday and, according to spectators, Trevino drew a pistol and fired twice. Robles died quickly afterward. After the shooting Trevino gave himself up.

TROUBLE TAKEN TO COURT

As a result of a fistic engagement which occurred at Wilson and Adams streets, Saturday, P. Carmona, of Pacific avenue near Riverdale drive, will appear before Judge Lowe Saturday morning. He was arrested on a complaint sworn to by W. H. Lindewood. Carmona is an employe of the Sparr Fruit company.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES TONIGHT

The Board of Trustees of the Glendale Union high school will meet tonight at 8 o'clock, to consider business left unfinished at the last session. As this will probably be the last meeting prior to the opening of school, it is possible that any further alterations planned to be made at the high school, will come up for discussion.

MONEY FOR FARMERS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.— Ample credits will be available for the early marketing of this year's crops, Governor Benjamin Strong, of the federal reserve bank of New York, told the joint congressional committee investigating agricultural conditions.

DEMAND FOR HOMES MAKES NEW HIGH SUMMER MARK

Harry M. Miller, 114 East Broadway, says that the real estate business of the summer has far exceeded his expectations and is in advance of last year. His sales last month aggregated over $50,000 and there is no diminution of inquiry. He looks for a very lively demand in the fall and early winter. Through his agency eight houses and six unimproved lots were sold in July. Two of the lots which were the property of W. C. Rich, and situated on Louise between Brand and Harvard, were bought by A. J. Brunt, recently of Lankershim. They are to be used for a court of seven bungalows, five of which are already under construction, and will represent an investment of $20,000. Mr. Brunt will occupy one of the bungalows himself and will make the grounds very attractive.

Borthick Brothers of South Brand boulevard, have the some story to tell of an exceptional summer demand for houses and lots. They attribute it in part to the dull times in the east and the good times on the coast, which are luring investors this way. Their most recent sale was a lot on Chestnut, between Brand and Glendale avenue, to a Mr. Cooper, a newcomer from Kansas.

RELEASED SINN FEINERS MEET

(By International News Service)

DUBLIN, Aug. 9.—The first meeting of the released members of the Dail Eireann to discuss England's peace terms to Ireland, was held at Mansion House today. Among the Sinn Fein parliamentarians present was John MacKeown, commandant of the Irish republican army, who was released from prison last night.

Eamonn de Valera reported the status of the London peace negotiations.

In addition to discussing peace matters, the Sinn Fein legislators conferred over conditions in the prisons and internment camps with de Valera and Michael Collins, commander-in-chief of the Irish republican army.

DRAINAGE SYSTEM FOR SCHOOL FIELD

The work of constructing a drainage system at the high school, to clear the athletic field of water, was begun this morning. Tnother drain will be built on the girls' section of the grounds. The completion of these drains will avoid the flooding of the grounds during winter rains.

A number of other changes will be made before the opening of school. Two outdoor basketball courts and a volley ball court will be laid out behind the bleachers. The girls' section of the grounds will be graded and otherwise improved.

ROBINSON FAMILY TO CAMP ON SESPE

Mr and Mrs. Spencer Robinson, their daughter, Julia, and son, Dean Tyler, will leave Friday for a fortnight's camping outing on the Sespe, about five miles from Fillmore. Mr. Robinson will motor back and forth to Glendale, to look after his business and city interests.

BLAZE ON MILFORD STREET

The Glendale fire department, station No. 1, responded to a call from the 600 block on Milford street this morning. The trouble proved to be a brush fire, the origin of which could not be learned. A few grape vines were destroyed.

NAME OF HAGUE IS ADDED TO LIST OF BOOSTERS

Busy Builder Is Transforming South Glendale Tract Into Home District

To the list of boosters in Glendale should be added the name of H. H. Hague, who some time ago purchased the property owned by C. H. Scheu on Central avenue, between Park and Tropico avenues. The property comprises four acres. Mr. Hague has subdivided his holdings into twenty-five building lots and is proceeding to build on these lots homes that are a credit to Glendale.

Mr. Hague already has constructed seven strictly modern five and six-room dwellings. Four of these have already been sold and the prospects are that the three that are now in course of construction will be disposed of by the time they are completed. These homes are ranging from $4,200 to $6,000 in price. A short street, known as Magnolia avenue, has been cut westward from Central avenue, and along this six of the homes are located. It is expected that Magnolia will be cut through to San Fernando road at an early date.

It is the intention of Mr. Hague to cut another street northward from the western terminus of Magnolia avenue, and along this he will also construct a number of homes. He will improve both Magnolia avenue and the proposed street, a name for which has not been decided on, up to this time. The indications are that when completed the Hague tract will be one of the finest little residence sections to be found in Glendale.

LINER SAN JOSE IN REEF'S TEETH

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9.—Wireless advices received early today by the United States naval radio station on Yerba Bucna Island, reported that the Pacific mail liner San Jose, with 100 passengers and crew, struck and grounded on San Pablo reef, Ascunsion Island, 100 miles southwest of San Diego.

One message from the San Jose, said:

"Ship is in immediate danger. Any ship please come to rescue."

A message from Captain Zastrout of the San Jose, said:

"Holding out O. K. I guess."

The San Diego wireless station asked if the San Jose was sinking. The answer came "No, but have big list. Think struck on reef."

The steamship Griffdu, the only ship within 100 miles, has gone to the rescue, according to word received here early today.

The latest message received today from the San Jose, said: "Resting easily now. No panic aboard."

The San Jose left Salina Cruz, Mexico, August 1, and was due in San Francisco, August 12. She is of 2,135 tons.

SILESIAN QUESTION TOPIC AT COUNCIL

PARIS, Aug. 9.—The prospects for a compromise settlement of the Upper Silesian issue were brighter when the supreme council convened for its second session today.

General Leronde, head of the inter-allied high commission in Upper Silesia, and who was in Upper Silesia throughout the Polish uprising, made a long report to the council. Other members of the allied commission were also heard.

MR. BOWERS SETTLES

H. R. Bowers, whose employe was compelled to appear before Judge Lowe yesterday morning to answer a charge of securing electricity from the city without first obtaining a permit to do so, appeared in person before Judge Lowe yesterday afternoon and settled up. He was compelled to pay $60, the cost of a permit for three months, and $20 to cover the right to secure "juice" during the month of August.

GREEK CASUALTIES

ATHENS, Aug. 9.— The total Greek casualties in the war against the Turkist Nationalists, are under 7000, according to an offical statement issued by the government today. The communique put the dead at 200 officers and 1000 men, and the total wounded at 6000. The Greeks claim that the Turkish casualties are more than 30,000.

J. C. WAITE VISITS OLD FRIENDS IN HOME TOWN

No Place Like Glendale, He Says, After Eight Months in San Francisco

Transplanted eight months ago to San Francisco, J. C. Waite, long a resident of Glendale, in town today, visiting among his old friends, particularly the Elks, of which local organization he was a first class member, declared that the transplanting had not taken hold and that he still hoped to be free to return to Glendale to pass the remainder of his days.

"The thing you notice particularly in San Francisco," he said, "is that the petty jealousy of Southern California is passing rapidly in the light of realization that boosting pays. Now the great slogan there is 'Boost' for San Francisco, and 'boost' for the whole state of California.

"It is significant that the really big men of Los Angeles and San Francisco have come together and are working to promote the development of the whole state, and of course each other."

Mr. Waite is connected with the Pacific Desk Company of Los Angeles. He was transferred about the beginning of the year to their store in San Francisco. The concern has stores in Fresno and San Diego. His son-inlaw, Theodore Pierce of Glendale, is connected with the same company.

"Mr. and Mrs. Pierce have just returned to San Francisco," he said: "from a three months' tour of the east, taking in Yellowstone Park. They are now returning to Los Angeles, where they will join us. We have with us their little daughter, Patricia. I expect to return to San Francisco the end of the week."

RED CROSS CALL TO CLOTHE NAKED

Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, chairman of the Glendale Chapter, American Red Cross, reports the receipt of a communication from the Pacific Coast Division, in which it is stated that the need for clothing overseas is even greater now than it has been, and calls upon the chapter for donations of warm, substantial underwear and outside garments.

In response the chapter is calling upon its members and has established receiving stations at the fire houses, East Broadway, near Maryland, and Los Feliz Road and Brand, and the residence of Mrs. Bartlett, 347 North Brand boulevard.

The campaign will last about two weeks, and the shipment will be sent forward September 1 to the Balkan states, Poland, Austria, and Central and astern Europe.

The only requirements are that the garments shall be whole and clean, in condition for immediate service. Many agencies are co-operating with the Red Cross in meeting the emergency.

Mrs. Bartlett says she knows Glendale will go over the top in meeting this request, just as it has done in the past. She asks the housewives to get busy looking over stores of clothing to see what can be spared.

MURDER SUSPECT BOUGHT SHOTGUN

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Arthur Courtney Burch, held in Los Angeles as a suspect in the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, purchased from Von Lengerke & Antoine, a local sporting goods firm, a 12-gauge shotgun on February 1, 1921, it was learned here today. Discovery of the purchase of the gun here is believed to supply the "missing link" in the evidence Los Angeles police have assembled in the case against Burch.

Kennedy was slain, according to reports from Los Angeles, with a 12-gauge shotgun.

ONE DEAD, TWO INJURED

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Murder, attempted murder and suicide occurred at Sconondew, a nearby suburb, early this morning when Frank Sager, 26, shot his sweetheart, Bernice Hook, and her sister Pearl, and then committed suicide. Pearl was instantly killed. Bernice was in a hospital dangerously wounded.

TURKS QUIT ANGORA

LONDON, Aug. 9.—The Turkish Nationalists are evacuating Angora, their capital, according to information received by the foreign office today.

GREAT GRANDMOTHER, 55

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Marjie Marie White is less than one month old. Babie Marie weighed seven pounds at birth. She has lots of black, curly hair and pretty blue eyes. Marie's mother is sixteen years old; her grandmother is thirty-one years old, and her great-grandmother is fifty-five years old. Marjie Marie's family believes this record beats all local ones.

Marie's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank White. Mr. White is twenty-one years old, a mechanic. Previous to her marriage Mrs. White was Miss Edna Woods. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woods. Mr. Woods is forty years old and his wife, Mrs. Cora Woods, is thirty-one. She was married when she was fourteen years old. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. James T. Smart, of Mountain Grove, Mo., sixty-three and fifty-five years old respectively.

Marjie Marie's aunt is five years old, while she can also boast of an uncle who is eight.

WOMAN VISITOR IS CHIEF OFFICER OF REAL RAILROAD

One of the only two women railroad presidents in the world is visiting Glendale today. She is Mrs. Phoebe E. Clark, of Nashville, Tenn., chief executive of the Tennessee, Kentucky & Northern railroad. She is in Glendale as the guest of relatives, Mrs. L. Gibbs, 314 Burchett street, and Mrs. J. C. Bardsley, 344 Burchett street.

Mrs. Clark is a charming conversasionalist. Her manner gives no suggestion of the business responsibilities that undoubtedly are a part of her work. She left Nashville July 10, to make an extended trip through the west, and now, having arrived in Southern California, she pronounces herself delighted with the locality.

"I feel an element of kinship here," she said, speaking of her trip, "for my only woman rival as a railroad president is a Californian. She is Mrs. Metta J. Ericson, chief of the Amador Central railroad, a line twelve miles long."

The Tennessee, Kentucky & Northern railroad possesses twenty miles of track, connecting Livingston and Algood, Tenn., where is joins with the Tennessee Central railroad. The line is used to haul timber from the Cumberland mountains.

Mrs. Clark became president of the road upon the death of her husband, in 1914. Prior to that time she was vice-president.

During the history of the road, which was completed in 1910, there never has been a strike among its fifty-five employes. Mrs. Clark says she aims to keep the men contented, and to aid in this, they are paid a 10 per cent bonus every year. The lease for the railroad was due to expire in 1927, but Mrs. Clark has succeeded in renewing the lease until 1936.

S. JAY RICE BUYS SUMMER RESORT

S. Jay Rice, who, for several years, resided at Central avenue and Los Feliz avenue, and who is well-known throughout the valley, has purchased the summer resort known as Live Oak Springs, located about twenty miles from San Diego, on the highway running between San Diego and Imperial Valley. There are 160 acres in this property, which is dotted with live oaks and abounds with springs of various sizes. Mr. Rice has subdivided the property and is selling it off in the form of building lots. He is being assisted in this work by his brother, Guy Rice.

AMERICANS FREED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—The Americans who were imprisoned in soviet jails in Moscow are on their way to the frontier, according to advices reaching the state department today from its agents at Riga and Reval. They have been released. The Americans are expected to reach Hamburg this evening, the advices stated.

WAR ON BEER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Prohibition Commissioner Haynes today declared war on beer when he issued instructions to all prohibition directors to immediately revoke the licenses of any brewers who manufacture beer of more than one-half of one per cent volume of alcohol.

GLENDALE YOUTH IS RESCUED AT SEA BY RELIEF TUG

Johnny Richardson On Boat With Disabled Engine Adrift Four Days

Adrift four days on the Pacific, Johnny Richardson, son of Mrs. Ella Richardson, returned today from Balboa, entirely fed up on ocean navigation. He engaged, with Harvey Webster of Balboa, to run a tug boat and to tow a big barge houseboat from San Diego to Balboa, a run of about twenty-four hours. Only sufficient food was taken for one day.

They had gone only a short distance when engine trouble started. For thirteen hours they worked over the engine before they could proceed. Five hours later, the tow rope caught in the propeller and stopped the engine a second time. It was 2 o'clock in the morning. To free the rope, they had to go over the side, in the ice cold water, and cut the rope free with an axe.

After drying off, they took turns sleeping, and then started the engine, which was again giving trouble.

They had about given up hope of making port when a relief party on a tug sent out from Bilboa found them, at 1 o'clock Monday morning, off La Jolla.

"The eats were the best ever," said Richardson, "and that tow line looked good to us."

Richardson expects to make another trip on the ocean, this time as steersman of the motorboat Anapa, to the Santa arbara islands, for a week's fishing. In a week or two he will quit the sea for the Glendale high school.

BABE RUTH STILL LINING 'EM OVER

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Babe Ruth's chances of shattering the world's home run record are just as bright as ever.

The big Bambino has been doing some heroic work with the bludgeon during the past few days, and if he can keep it up, he will crack his 1920 mark as sure as he can hit right and left handed pitching.

Ruths two homers Monday off Wienecke and Kerr, of the White Sox, made him even with his 1920 record, and he cannot fall behind again until August 14, the date of his forty-second homer last year.

With five days to go, it appears fairly certain that Ruth will keep up with the record, and even though he fails, there is better than an even chance that he will forge ahead in the long run, for in 1920, his forty-fifth and forty-sixth homers were not made until September 4.

NEW YORKER AFTER TOM WATSON'S JOB

A man from New York has applied to the City Council for appointment as city manager, according to a report from authoritative sources today.

The name of the new candidate was withheld, but it was said that he is a man of distinction.

According to the report, the announcement of his candidacy was made for the first time at the meeting of the Council, held last night in the city hall. The meeting was said to have been called to discuss qualifications with applicants for the position. No candidates appeared before the Council, it was stated, although it had been expected that they would be present.

EGG, 7½ OUNCES!

This is the story of an egg—a real, genuine, sure-enough egg. It was laid by a two-year-old White Leghorn hen, belonging to Townsend Clark, 818 East Acacia avenue, this morning. This egg weights seven and one-half ounces and measures eight by ten inches in circumference. With eggs of this kind making their appearance now, is it little wonder that the poultrymen of Glendale are making a success of their business?

O'BRIEN ENJOYS LIFE OF SAMIOAN

A hint of the sort of good times that are being enjoyed by Frederick O'Brien, distinguished author of this city, now in Samoan waters, is contained in a letter received from him by the editor of the literary review of the New York Post. Mrs. O'Brien has a copy of the letter in which Mr. O'Brien writes:

"The Samoans are better preserved than any Polynesians. I am living with them intimately on the island of Savaii. I have written nothing here, not even a note, as I have been too actively participating in life to write—swimming in the sea, fishing, singing, dancing, and learning Samoan, besides cooking my food. The dances are remarkable and the singing is delightful. I went to another island a day ago in a fautasia, a rowing boat; seventy feet long and very narrow, barely room for two rowers on each seat, and there were forty rowers. The chief steered and I sat with him. They sang all the way. Once they chanted a war song. We went four miles in forty minutes in the open sea."

C. C. SHERROD BUYS "THE CORSET SHOP"

C. C. Sherrod, of Los Angeles, has purchased the interest of Mrs. L. Quackenbush in "The Corset Shop," at 207 East Broadway, and plans to make it an up-to-date shop for women, greatly enlarging its stock of corsets, underwear—silk and cotton—neckwear, etc. Alterations will be made in the salesroom, which will be redecorated and equipped for its new start. These changes will probably be completed by September 1. In the meantime, business will go on as usual, with Mrs. Quackenbush as manager.

MISS WINKLER'S CONDITION

Miss Bertha Winkler, who was injured yesterday morning by being struck by an automobile at the intersection of Brand boulevard and Broadway is getting along nicely. X-ray examination showed that in the accident Miss Winkler suffered a slight concussion of the brain. She is a patient at the Glendale sanitarium.

Tonapah Strike Changes Desert Miner to Senator

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—A tall, angular, bald-headed, pink-cheeked, youthful-looking man sits erect at his desk in one corner of the Senate chamber. He is immaculately attired in garments of a fashionable cut. He seldom utters a syllable in a body where speech-making is the rule and silence the exception. Pince-nez are carefully balanced upon his nose. His nails are freshly manicured, his collar and tie—perfection.

"Who's the dude Senator," queries one of the irreverent in the galleries. "Looks as though he had a flock of valets, and belonged to the 'Millionaire's Club.'"

The "dude" chances to be Tasker Lowndes Oddie, the new Republican Senator from Nevada, ex-cow puncher and ex-gold miner, who underwent all sorts of hardships and privations, and toiled long in a hard-fisted practical way before good fortune slipped him into the "soft snap" of a Senatorial

COMES FROM NEW JERSEY

Oddie was shunted westward after being born at Brooklyn, N. Y., October 24, 1870, and spending his early boyhood at East Orange, N. J. He roughed in on a ranch in Nebraska from sixteen to nineteen and then sought a business career in New York City. In 1898 he went to Nevada to identify himself with the extensive Stokes mining interests there, but he worked himself out of a job by exposing irregularities in connection with them, and he then hit the trail and drifed south into Nye County, in the region of old Belmont, the former grandeur of which had departed, and took up mining on his own account.

While engaged in this task he became acquainted with a man, Jim Butler, who was to play an important part in his life. Butler had been District Attorney—a job with little to do and less pay, in which Oddie succeeded him—a rancher in a small way, and a prospector of the old school, with that gift that made the old-timers famous in their day. One day Butler handed Oddie several samples from a prospect he had found and told him that the formation looked good, and that if the samples ran anything at all it would be worth exploiting. Butler had taken some samples from the find to Klondyke, a nearby camp, and shown them to Wilse Brougher and his partner, Higgs, who had an assay office there. Higgs threw them aside as not being worth an assay. Butler, who was "broke," proposed that Oddie have the samples assayed. "If the stuff is any good, I'll put you in on the locations," quoth Butler. Oddie was in the same financial condition as Butler, but he had in Austin a friend, W. C. Gayheart, an assayer, to whom he sent the samples. In a letter to Gayheart he repeated Butler's offer, and proposed to put Gayheart in on his interest should the assays show values worth while.

There were eight samples in the lot and in due time the certificate came. The lowest ran $60 per ton in silver, the highest $600. They were from an outcrop on what later became known to the mining world as the Mizpah mine in the great silver camp of little frequented part of Nye County.

TONOPAH'S BIG BOOM

"Tonopah gave birth to the greatest mining boom Nevada has had since the glorious days of the Comstock, and has already produced more than a hundred million dollrs. Rich gold ore was found twenty-five miles to the south and Goldfield was given to the mining world with its rich treasure trove. Then came Hannapah, Silver Bow, Reveille, Manhattan and a score of new camps. Oddie remained for five years as manager of the Tonopah Mining and the Belmont Development and operated in Goldfield and other camps where he had secured interests. In 1910, he was nominated for Governor on the Republican ticket and elected, serving four years. Unskilled in politics and with a poor organization, he went out and appealed to the voters and won.

There followed some lean years in Nevada. The stock boom which swept the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from Canada to Mexico, had gone its way. Last year he again entered the lists, first for nomination, then for election as United States Senator. It may safely be assumed that the mining industry will have a staunch friend in the person of the new junior Senator.

DESCENDS FROM GOOD STOCK

Senator Oddie is a Republican. His father was a native of New York and his mother a native of Washington. He is, through his mother, a direct descendant of Benjamin Tasker, the first Governor of Maryland, a direct descendant of Major Benjamin Stoddert, the first Secretary of the Navy, and a cousin of the late Lloyd Lowndes, former Governor of Maryland.

He was a member of the Nevada State Council of Defense during the late war, chairman of Highways Transport Committee and War Industries Board of Nevada during the war, and was a member of Essex Troop (calvary) of New Jersey for several years prior to going to Nevada.

From 1901 to 1903, he was District Attorney for Nye County; from 1904 to 1908, State Senator, and was Governor of Nevada from 1911 to 1915.

GULF STATES REUNION

The annual Gulf States reunion picnic will be held at Sycamore Grove, Los Angeles, August 20. Former residents of Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Florida, will make the day a memorable one. Rev. Robert P. Shuler and Dr. Charles C. Selecman will speak. It will be a basket picnic. The program opens at 2 o'clock.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies Are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmothers made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep their locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

GLENDALE REALTORS UNABLE TO FILL HOME ORDERS

Edwin F. Kulp, one of Glendale's live and progressive real estate men, is also one of the many far-seeing business men who predict a great future for Glendale. He is doing all in his power to boost the city and locate people here. With a wide and varied experience, Mr. Kulp has been able to accomplish more than his share in locating new people.

"I believe we will have the greatest run of business this fall that we have ever had," said Mr. Kulp. "The fact that we now have dozens of calls every day for rentable property, and cannot accommodate people, even in the summer, is a pretty good index what will follow when the influx of tourists from the east starts. The building has not in the least taken care of the demand for homes, and I expect to see the building take on new activity. You could not kill Glendale if you should hit the town on the head with a mallet. The continued growth is assured. I believe it is the duty of every citizen to do his part in boosting the town in any manner that will help bring it to the notice of those who are looking for the best city in Southern California—and Glendale is that city."

UNION LABELERS HOLD SOCIAL MEET

The Woman's International Union Label League No. 400, of Glendale, gave a surprise entertainment last evening at K. P. hall, Brand and Park avenues, to the organized carpenters and painters and their friends.

The speaker of the evening, J. Dale of Los Angeles, gave an interesting talk on the value of organization and the great demand for union labeled goods. Prizes were given for the best tableaux presented.

The affair was a success both financially and socially, regardless of the fact that most of the members have not fully recovered from the strenuous ballgame which they participated in last Saturday at their picnic in Brookside Park.

A luncheon was served to the 150 people present at the close of the program.

PATTERSON PARK EXTENSION CERTAIN

Extension of the acreage of Patterson Park was agreed upon at the meeting of the committee of the Chamber of Commerce with S. C. Hahn, in Glendale, yesterday.

Mr. Hahn agreed to receive a plan from the committee whereby the city should take over ground from his mother's estate. The matter was referred back to the committee of the Chamber of Commerce, which is to submit a proposition to the city for the acquisition of land. After that, the plan will be submitted to the executors of the Hahn estate, to be, in turn, presented to the court for sanction.

NEW OWNER FOR STORE IN TROPICO

J. M. Miller of Hollywood, has purchased the store of H. E. Crane, 1414 South San Fernando road, and is putting in a complete line of meats, groceries, bakery goods, etc. For years Mr. Miller conducted a similar establishment in Hollywood, and he is moving to Glendale because he is more favorably impressed with this city than with any other section of Southern California. Mr. Miller has also purchased a home on Central avenue near Los Feliz avenue, where he is now living.

PASADENA SISTERS BUY HOFFMAN HOME

Mrs. Nellie Hoffman has sold her home, 1214 Stanley avenue, to Mrs. Estella K. Snyder and Mrs. Florence K. Ashton, sisters, who have been living at 1311 Kirkwood avenue, Pasadena. They will take possession October 1. The sale was made through the agency of Harry Miller, on East Broadway. Mrs. Hoffman will begin this week the building of a new home on a lot she owns on East California, near Verdugo road.

STEAL MARCH ON THEIR FRIENDS

Miss Gretchen Ruess, who has been batnroom matron at the Glendale sanitarium, and Harvey Christian, who is one of the office clerks in the same institution, stole a march on their friends, and went to San Fernando last Sunday, where they were married at the home of the bride's parents. They are now "nowhere" on a honeymoon trip, but are expected to return and make their home in this city in about ten days.

SUPPORT OF FIRST NATIONAL GIVEN TO NEW BANK

The First Savings Bank of Glendale, at 104 East Broadway, will be added to the local financial institutions about September 1, it was announced today by R. F. Kitterman, cashier of the First National Bank.

Half a million dollars deposited in the First National Bank's savings department will be transferred ultimately to the new institution.

The savings department of the First National Bank will then be closed and all of the escrows and the safety deposit box business of the First National will be taken over by the First Savings Bank, placing the institution on the firm foundation of a going concern, ready for more business.

With the departments that are transferred, will go many of the employes of the First National Bank, who have been associated with those departments.

The officials and employes of the new bank have not all been selected as yet, Mr. Kitterman announced. These selections will be made between now and the date of the opening of the institution.

"The First Savings Bank will be equipped with as strong a vault as any similar sized institution of a big city," said Mr. Kitterman; "it is a Class 1 vault; its door is six inches thick and weighs eleven tons. The vault is of concrete eighteen inches thick with steel rod reinforcement every six inches. It would have been possible for us to have put in a cheaper vault, but we felt that those patronizing our safe deposit boxes in Glendale should be afforded all the protection they have a right to expect from a first class institution.

"The stockholders of the First National have spent $15,000 for the equipment of the new bank, in which of course, they are all stockholders.

"The work on the quarters for the new institution has reached the finishing stage, the marble being in process of installation today. Marble and walnut will be the general tone of the offices.

"The fact that Glendale has, as yet no greater regular payroll, such as flows into trade and savings from a big industry, has not militated against the growth of savings accounts in the city.

"We find that the savings accounts here are formed more as surplus receptacles for inactive funds. Which is to say, they represent the uninvested wealth of the people.

"Since the fifteen or seventeen years of the existence here of the First National Bank, our savings accounts have reached $500,000. This, through its transfer to the First Savings Bank, will be available for real estate and improvement investments not previously possible."

FARIS MURDY MAY LIVE IN TAMPICO

Faris Murdy, yeoman on the U. S. S. Mississippi, now on a northern cruise with other vessels of the Pacific fleet, expects his ship to anchor in San Pedro harbor about August 17, following the naval review in San Francisco. Since his return from his wedding trip, he has been promoted, and it has been his job to pay off and make out discharge papers for the men who have been let out of the service from his ship, as a result of the retrenchment policy of the government.

He hopes to get out himself, and has put in an application for discharge. If he realizes his hope, he and his wife will probably join his brother, Earl Murdy, in Tampico, Mexico. Earl has just purchased a business there and desires his brother for a partner. Mrs. Faris Murdy is making her home with her sister-in-law, Mrs. George Howard, on East Maple avenue.

BIRTHS AT SANITARIUM

A number of new residents arrived in Glendale recently, via the Glendale sanitarium. They were as follows:

A daughter, born August 6, to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murray, of Owensmouth.

Samuel, jr., born August 6, to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Clausen, 121 West Chestnut street.

A daughter, who arrived August 6 to cheer the hearts of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. De Mars, 361 West Harvard.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Burton have come home from a two weeks' outing at Catalina. Mr. Burton is an employe of the P. E., and has been taking a vacation.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Leo D. Goode and family, 265 Dayton Court, accompanied by Miss Lillias McGibbon of North Cedar street, are enjoying a fortnight at Long Beach.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. W. Henry have returned to their home on Arden avenue from an auto trip north by the coast route, with stops to visit friends in Capitola, San Jose and San Francisco, then to Lake Tahoe where for five perfect days and nights they camped and fished and swam. The only strenuous part of the tour was the drive over the Tioga Pass to reach the Yosemite Valley, which they traversed on the way home. Little Kenneth Hellyer was their passenger and guest all the way and enjoyed the trip as much as they did.

SEE DAVE GREGG FOR FISH STORIES

There's nothing of the proverbial fish story about this. It's the real thing and they're on display where any one can see them.

Gus Wangenheim, who has charge of the sporting department of the Neal & Gregg Hardware store, Sunday, took his rod and tackle down to Manhattan Beach. Monday he had on display in the store window six sporty 4½ pound corbinas he lured from the surf.

Fishing is pretty good just now at all the beaches—if you know how, declares Mr. Wangenheim. At Santa Monica there are mackerel, yellow fin and halibut. Playa del Rey has good runs of mackerel and yellow fin. Hermosa abounds with yellow fin, smelt, corbina and mackerel, while Redondo affords excellent mackerel.

There are many apostles of Izaak Walton taking advantage of the exceptional runs of fish at nearby beaches these days, reports Mr. Wangenheim.

JUNIOR ORCHESTRA GROWING RAPIDLY

Eight new members were added to the orchestra of Glendale's Junior Music Club when it met for rehearsal at the High School, Monday evening. These brought the enrollment close to forty. Seevral classical numbers were rehearsed under the leadership of Mrs. Dora Gibson. The organization voted to postpone for a time the proposed entertainment at Thornycroft.

Forest Jordan has been made assistant director of the orchestra.

Such a strong call has come in for a chorus to be composed of members who are not in the orchestra that an organization meeting will be called in the near future. Miss Veda Knapp, president of the club, says if this project is carried out the orchestra will probably rehearse one Monday night and the chorus the next.

She urged all members to attend the rehearsal next Monday, as plans will then be framed for the Thornycroft entertainment, which will probably be given the latter part of that week.

You may not be able to go to the seashore or mountains, but neither are most of those who do.

ALIEN QUOTAS LAW MAKES SHIPS JAZZ ON HIGH SEAS

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—When we were kids we used to play a game called "Ten Steps," in which whoever was "It" stood with closed eyes and counted rapidly to ten, the others rushing from a starting point in an effort to be the first to the counter. Anyone caught moving after "ten" had been counted had to go back and start over.

It is much the same game which would-be immigrants to the United States play these days. The rules are the new "1-5 of 3 per cent" law, which sounds like beer, but which is really an attempt to check immigration. Olga and Carlo and Boris start from the other side and rush for the land of the free, trying to reach Ellis Island before the quota man says "ten." If he catches them on the move they have to go back and try all over again the first of next month.

The new law, which has been effective for about two months, has certainly jazzed up the business of immigration. It provides that the number of immigrants from any one country be limited to 3 per cent of that nation's 1910 population. And it has a joker which says that only 1-5 of that 3 per cent shall come in in any one month.

If the law merely stipulated that when a nation had sent us 3 per cent of its 1910 population no more would be admitted there would be no difficulty; the overflow could simply be shipped back home, with Uncle Sam's regrets. But this 1-5 of 3 per cent each month business has them all guessing. Or did at first.

It didn't take the wily foreigner long to catch onto the joker and turn the trick against us. Eight little nations used up their quotas during July, which was the first month. When it came around toward the last of the month, did the liners bringing immigrants to this country put in, learn they were too late because the month's quota was full, and put back? They did not.

Much to the disgust, even to the fury, of some hundreds of American citizens who happened to be passengers, eight big transatlantic liners due late in July calmly delayed their arrival in New York until the first of the month. One, the Megali Hellas, a Greek liner, with 130 Americans aboard, arrived off Fire Island July 29 and, despite the rage and hair tearing of the United States citizens, dropped anchor and stayed there, just outside the three-mile limit, until August dawned.

Round the Sport Circle with Jack Veiock International News Sporting Editor.

NEW YORK, August 9.—Gene Tunney, the "battling marine" of Greenwich Village, opines that he wouldst mingle with the winner o the coming Gibbons-Carpentier swatfest, slated for the second week in October.

Tunney is ambitious. He has the height, weight and reach necessary for a serious foraging expedition into heavyweight pastures, but he lacks one very important thing—experience.

Shortly after the war, Tunney made quite an impression in several bouts in New Jersey. He was hailed as a very likely-looking battler, and, physically, he is still that. Then he hurt his hands so badly in a bout with a tough third-rater that he was forced to lay off for nearly a year.

On July 2 he made a comeback, meeting Soldier Jones, of Montreal, in a preliminary to the Dempsey-Carpentier scrap. This Soldier Jones may be a bad man in a free-for-all, but as a professional fighter he is an awful spectacle and Tunney should have disposed of him in jig time, which he failed to do, taking things easy and doing much languid gazing at the big crowd.

No doubt, Greenwich Village Gene is sincere about wanting some of the good ones, but if he will take some friendly advice he will do well to steer clear of such manglers as Gibbons and Carpentier for a while.

Pittsburg "Flatties" have been given the air by Barney Dreyfus because, he says, they have failed to prevent gambling at Forbes Field. We imagine that what applies to Pittsburg applies to other major league cities. Looks like it is time to dig into that $10,000 anti-gambling fund, commissioner.

Michael Kelley, genial and capable manager of the St. Paul (American association) club, probably utters many a chuckle of satisfaction these days when he lamps the National league standing and remembers that he turned down the management of the Phillies last winter.

President Baker, of the Phillies, was hot after Kelley during the joint major-minor league confab in Kansas City, and Mike took the offer under consideration, finally deciding that the management of a good minor league club, whose owner was willing to spend the money for players if necessary, was better than being a goat on big time.

The wrecking of the Phillies started with the sale of Alexander and Killifer, and has continued consistently—so much so, in fact, that even the Athletics have been unable to lose more games.

Going out of style—the fighter who carries his own referee, and the manager who tries to break records getting to the wire.

Regardless of how Joe Dugan may stand on the Volstead act, he refuses to be a cellar smeller with Connie Mack.

What an arrogant outfit those black White Sox have turned out to be. Despite the revelations brought to light concerning their crooked dealings in the 1919 world's series, they have had the audacity to presume that the baseball public is still interesetd in them, and they are attempting a barnstorming tour.

The fact that some or all of these indicted players succeeded in their fight to steer clear of the hoosgow, means nothing to the baseball fans of the country. In the eyes of fandom the eight players are very black sheep, and in the face of their alleged confessions they are not deserving of public patronage. Any tour arranged by a team including these players, therefore, is doomed to dismal failure, unless the baseball public has gone stark mad.

Story of the Cable Car.

In 1873, on August 1, the first cable car in the world was put into operation at San Francisco. The inventor of the cable system was Andrew Hallidie. The cable cars were introduced into Chicago eight years after their appearance on the Pacific coast and in 1883 were adopted in New York, Washington and Philadelphia and afterward in London.

Tapestries Brought High Prices.

A collection of rare and costly tapestries and furniture belonging to the estates of Augustus Kountze, James Stillman, and others, was sold at the American Art galleries in New York recently, and brought a total of $57,117.50. Charles, of London, paid $9,000, the top price, for a set of four allegorical tapestries, Italian, of the sixteenth century; $6,500 for an Italian Renaissance tapestry, "Harvesting," and $5,600 for an Italian Renaissance hunting tapestry.

Needs Grow.

Most of us who haven't any, think in our pious way that all we want money for is to be independent, but we notice, says the Ohio State Journal, that as soon as anyone begins to get a few dollars ahead he discovers that he needs lots more independence than he thought he did.

PRICE REDUCTIONS INCREASE SALES OF MANY CARS

(By International News Service)

DETROIT, Aug. 9.—The automobile industry is coming back and by Fall it will have "arrived," is the optimistic prediction made by officials of the leading automobile companies here.

Where months ago there existed a feeling of uncertainty, if not fear for the future of the entire industry, today there is nothing but a feeling of security, of confidence in the future, and the courage to face it.

"The public is not buying," wailed the automobile men last Spring when the period of depression held them firmly in its grip and many were fighting with their backs to the wall.

"We must get the public back in the market," they all agreed.

But the usual remedies for a "sick" business, an elaborate advertising campaign and the injection of a little "pep" into the sales department failed to rouse the public interest, and the unemployment situation in Detroit became serious.

It remained for Henry Ford to make the move which is slowly but surely bringing order out of chaos.

He reduced prices. And almost simultaneously with the announcement that the price of the "flivver" had been cut came a flood of orders.

"Business is picking up," the Ford company announced soon after the it in prices.

A general reduction in prices of all makes of cars followed and as a result the public is back in the market and today the industry is well on its way to the peak of production.

During August the Ford company plans to turn out 109,700 cars and trucks, a new monthly record for that corporation.

Thousands of men, idle for months, are being recalled and a general improvement in the unemployment situation is noted.

Several thousand returned to work in the Ford plant during July.

Stimulus in the business of the Packard company resulted in 1,000 being ordered back.

During the present month 1,500 employes were added to the working force of the Dodge Brothers, making the total about 13,000.

The Paige company declares production has now reached normal and sales for July were "short."

"We are now securing a maximum production with about 70 per cent of the employes we formerly had," declared Harry M. Jewett, president of the company.

The Maxwell company sees a steady improvement during the next few months.

Officials of the Cadillac, Studebaker and Hudson declare improvement has been noted during July and that still better conditions are expected.

TRAFFIC VIOLATORS

The following alleged traffic violators have been summoned to appear before Judge Lowe Friday morning at 10 o'clock:

P. L. Peck, 174 South Verdugo road, Burbank; W. E. Pierce, 173 North Mayflower street, Monrovia; G. P. Ford, 6517 Pearl avenue, Hyde Park; G. Larkin, 741 South Glendale avenue; W. J. Bryan, 1729 Wall street, Los Angeles; Lucile Park, 309 West Doran street; George McLaughen, 512 South Broadway; W. F. Trice, 327 Fairview avenue; Michael J. Stark, jr., Hansen Heights; Carl Banks, 426 River street, Los Angeles.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a Glass of Salts if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Troubles You

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acids of grapes and lemon joice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acid in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

UNCLE SAM'S FINANCES

One billion dollars was the amount by which the Government's revenues in the twelve months closed with June fell short of the revenues of the year that had ended on June 30, 1920. Customs receipts fell off by a matter of $24,000,000. The receipts from sales of surplus war property, public lands, and all of the odds and ends that make up the item of miscellaneous revenue, decreased by $250,000,000. The productivity of the various excise taxes declined by $50,000,000. But the great fall was in the yield of taxes on incomes and profits; they dropped by $738,000,000. That would have been three-quarters of the amount necessary to pay the interest on the entire national debt.

Within a total income from revenues of $5,624,000,000 in the year which has just closed, the Government managed to keep, with a margin of $509,000,000. The big end of the expenditures was for governmental expenses, as they are ordinarily understood, $4,009,000,000 going for this purpose. The interest bill on the public debt took $999,000,000 more.

On the margin of income over expenditure, almost an even $100,000,000 went to retire bonds of the Liberty loans, about $130,000,000 were paid back on war savings securities, and a good sum was used to retire Victory notes. The amount of these notes outstanding was reduced during the year by $333,000,000, but most of this reduction did not come out of current income, but from the proceeds of borrowings. Altogether, the total of the public debt—in bonds, notes and all other forms—got reduced by $322,000,000. The part of the margin between receipts and expenditures that did not go in these ways, appears in the enlarged working balance of the treasury. On June 30, 1921, that balance stood at $549,000,000, having, during the twelve-month, risen by something like $190,000,000. Every bit of this working balance, however, and a couple of hundred million more, had been allocated to particular expenditures.

COMEDY NOVELTY AT PALACE GRAND

A double bill of two headline pictures will furnish the entertainment at the Palace Grand Theatre both today and tomorrow. The first of these pictures, "Skirts," is said to have been produced on so elaborate a scale that nine months were required to film it.

Usual comedy standards were completely thrown into the discard when "Skirts" was produced. In place of one or two stars, not less than fifteen of the most prominent film comedy players of note appear. In place of the dozen or so bathing beauties, many scores of the "Fascinating Sunshine Widows" prance their way through the scenes, clad in creations calculated to make the eyes of the fair sex smart with envy.

Slap stick was laid aside for situations. Comedy was generously blended with thrills. Airplanes, cyclones, train wrecks, auto smashups, parachute drops, were used for their share of excitement and fun. And, as if these were not sufficient, William Fox, head of the Fox Film Corporation, closed the season of one of the biggest aggregations in the country, brought it to his Los Angeles studios and incorporated it into the production.

The world famous Singer Midget Troupe have contributed their bit—a generously big bit—and the result will bring delight to every child, small and grown up, that sees "Skirts." To Hampton Del Ruth goes the credit for conceiving the story and directing it.

The second picture which stars Tom Moore is called "Made in Heaven." It is a Goldwyn production and was written by William Hurlbut, the author of a number of screen successes.

The story concerns itself with the rise of a "greenhorn," who becomes a fireman in New York, to a position of affluence and power. Tom Moore's clever impersonation of a young Irishman will be remembered by those who saw him in "Hold Your Horses." In his latest photoplay, he is again a city servant, but this time it is a fireman. Of course, the hero saves the heroine, in this case, beautiful Helene Chadwick, from all sorts of embarrassing situations. But she is blue-blooded, petulant and charming.

There are complications, too: a rich suitor, a match-making friend, the hero's poverty and the heroine's inability to make up her mind to marry at all. However, our heroic fireman solves them all in due time, in his own naturally humorous way.

WOODLANDS SHOW ATTRACTIVENESS

In a lecture replete with historic detail, R. H. Horton, sales manager of the Newport company of Verdugo Woodlands, laid before the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, at noon today, the past, considerable of the present and the hopes of the future of this district.

The directors were the guests of the management of the new subdivision, at a luncheon, extended to them by W. L. Twining, general manager of the company.

The visitors, were taken over the subdivision and shown the rapidly developing tract, which has become an important part of Glendale.

The luncheon was Spanish style, in the serving of which Robert Russell acted as both chef and first assistant to everybody.

Among the interesting historic features of the Woodlands shown the visitors, was the old rose vine, planted 106 years ago, by Tia Logena Verdugo, which is still flourishing. Verdugo, too, is alive, living in Verdugo canyon, in his 117th year.

GERMANY'S STORKS ARE BUSY FLIERS

(By International News Service)

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—The clapping of the wings of Dr. Stork, heard so little during the war, is again a familiar sound in Germany. The pessimists have ceased worrying about "race suicide" and a receding birth rate, and instead are now gloomy about how to dispose of Germany's surplus population, with no colonies.

The birth curve fell so low during the war that it went off the chart. Statisticians in the Neue Berliner estimate that nearly five million children would have been born in Germany under normal conditions between the years 1914 and 1919.

Last year the birthrate passed the death rate for the first time since 1914, and fears of "race suicide" are past. The death rate, incidentally, has increased from 15.8 persons to the 1,000 in 1913 to 10.3 last year.

For the purpose of encouraging large families, the Berlin municipal schools are giving cut rates to children when there are several attending school. Public schools in Germany are not free as in America: bachelors and spinisters refuse to pay taxes to educate the neighbor's children. Tuition must be paid for each child.

A graduated scale of tuition has been introduced varying according to the income of the father and the number of children in school. A parent earning 30,000 marks a year must pay 500 marks school tax for the first child, 25 per cent rebate for the second child and 50 per centrebate for the third. The fourth child is free.

If the father's income is less than 20,000 marks, the first child has a rebate of 50 per cent and the second's educations is free.

Age-Old Philosophy

Cunningham Fraham, the famous traveler, said one day at the Knickerbocker Club:

"I am a bachelor, and I find that even among the most backward and savage people bachelorhood is looked on as a sign of wisdom.

"Once in Tartary a chieftain asked me if I had a wife.

"'No, exalted one,' I answered. 'I am a bachelor.'

"The chieftain gave an approving nod. Then he said thoughtfully:

"'As our Tartar proverb has it: "While the wise man is thinking about getting married the fool has his sixth daughter born to him."'

His Destination

Friend—That movie actor is very pompous. He boasts that he has arrived.

Director—He has. This is where he gets off.

Plenty of Will

"I hear your husband has given up smoking. Doesn't that require a strong will?"

"Well, I have a strong will!"

Five Dollar Gold Pieces For $4.50?

No one could make this offer and get away with it very long. But The Daily Press offers a bigger bargain than the above. At least dozens of our readers have told us so. The big value is in the Classified Ads. It may cost you 30 cents or 50 cents or, if it runs several days, a dollar, but it is almost a certainty if you have you will make more money from the insertion of a Classified Ad than were we to give you a $5 gold piece for $4.50. Hundreds of people testify to the selling power of Daily Press Classified Ads. If you have a house, a lot, an automobile, poultry or, in fact, anything you want to sell try a Classified Ad in The Daily Press and you will be surprised at the results from such a small investment.

Something to Sell The Public Wants

Costs Little and Results are Big

There is nothing that will pay better in results than a Classified Ad. Hundreds of people can testify to this fact, and you will do the same after you have given the proposition a thorough trial in this paper.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY—Lots of people who are "getting ahead in the world" are falling behind in the next.

SAVE YOUR RECEIPTS

Do not throw away receipts for money paid out.

They may be for old bills, but it is the old bills which come up occasionally for re-collection, and you want to be ready to show proof that you have paid.

And see that your receipts are dated, too.

The fact that you have paid a bill, that you are willing to swear that you have paid it, will not save you from paying it a second time if the firm's books have never given you credit.

It may be due to someone's carelessness that you have not been given credit, but you may not be able to prove it.

At times, especially at house-cleaning periods, there is a mighty impulse to get rid of a lot of old papers that seem to be of no use, but you would better keep the old receipts, no matter how much you may regret the space.

It is an excellent plan to pay by check, which, if dated properly, is a receipt in itself.

It is especially necessary to keep a receipt where a charge account is used for buying many little things from time to time and giving a check or the money on account at intervals. It is easy to forget.

But if you always pay by check you can produce the evidence easily.

SAVINGS IN FRANCE

The foreign department of the Bankers' Trust Company, New York, makes public a survey of deposits in savings banks in France, which shows a surprising condition in the war-torn and weary republic. Despite abnormal conditions existing during and since the war, the balance on deposit in French savings banks at the end of the year 1920 was 1,900,000,000 francs greater than in 1913. The survey also shows that the maximum deposit for any depositor is 5000 francs, and adds that until recently the maximum was even much lower than this.

These figures show that the French people, contrary to opinion expressed in some quarters, are making an effort to recoup the lost savings during the war. World statesmen may be spending much time and much opinion over the fugitive ways of peace, but the common people are returning to their work quietly and without much ado, laboring and saving, rebuilding the foundations of their little homes and forgetting the ravages of the war. The savings report from France is a most hopeful sign.

More than a week has passed and there has been no intimation that Edison tried out his famous questions on Ford when they were week-ending with Messrs. Firestone and Harding.

A Detroit man was found in a stupor with $15,000 in his handbag. The Norfolk News thinks most of us would be completely stunned under similar cricumstances.

Owen Moore is married again. Will they continue to refer to him as "the former husband of Mary Pickford?"

An all-day picnic lends sentiment to that ancient motto: "There's no place like home."

GRAVE AND GAY

Honest Tom

"I'm glad I broke my engagement with Tom," Mabel observed indignantly. "He's no gentleman."

"Why, I have always thought him one," Tess commented in surprise. "What has he done?"

"Well, I sent him back his presents, that is, all except the diamond ring and a few other things that I was really entitled to, considering how many times he had taken dinner at our house and all, and asked him to return mine."

"Well, did he refuse?"

"He did not. He not only sent back a box of cigars, unopened, and a pen-wiper and a knit necktie, but he also sent five boxes of face powder, saying he estimated that to be about the quantity he had taken away on his coat during the time we were engaged."

Junk!

A Scotchman, anxious as usual to "make a bit," hit upon the idea of collecting old tin cans and pieces of scrap iron.

Having accumulated a good collection, he sent them to a local junk store.

Somehow or other, however, they went astray and were sent to the wrong place.

Imagine his surprise the next morning when he received the following letter from a garage:

"Dear Sir: Your motor car to hand. We have never seen a worse smash, but we will do our best to put it together again. We send you herewith an estimate for the cost of repair and approximate date of delivery."

The "Light House"

There are twenty-eight languages spoken in Chicago, not counting golf and baseball. Our policemen understand all of them. A nice old lady, who seemed very little and very much lost, blocked the traffic on State and Madison streets the other day and poured her troubles into the sympathetic ear of the crossing cop—"Vare is der light house, please," she inquired.

"Want to pay your gas bill, lady?" asked the understanding officer.

"Jas," she smiled.

"Michigan avenue, at Adams street, two blocks south and two blocks east," said he, indicating the way and placing her safely on the curb.

"Gee, but you're a wonder," said the gas man, who happened to be a bystander.

"Easy," said the cop. "The corner of her gas bill was sticking out of her bag," and he plunged back into the traffic, looking for more problems to solve.

How Mitzi Learned

When little Mitzi Hajos first starred in musical comedy "on this side," she could speak but a few words of English, but she was a willing student.

One night, in a dancing number, Tom McNaughton, the story goes, happened to tramp on Mitzi's toes, and the fiery little singer went up into the air like a skyrocket.

When the curtain fell, Mitzi pitched into McNaughton with an avalanche of American slang and cuss words that amazed the comedian. Finally, McNaughton replied:

"Well, I must say, Mitzi, you are getting on in your English. Where'd you learn all that stuff?"

With a show of pride Mitzi retorted: "I pick him up from ze stage hands."

WOMAN'S COZY CORNER

By JOSEPHINE FRANCE

Crisp Salads for August

At this season we instinctively turn to cool, light foods, and there are not many prettier or more appetizing dishes than the juicy fruits and vegetables served in the form of dainty salads. Since novelty is ever to be desired, these conceits may, by exercising a little ingenuity, furnish innumerable, unusual and inviting additions to your everyday summer menu.

The first requisite is to master the art of making the salad dressing, whether French or mayonnaise. The oil must be of the best quality, and kept in a cool place. The bowl, egg and everything used in the preparation of the dressing should be chilled, and the salads be served perfectly cold.

Banana Salad

Bananas — Lemon Juice
Lettuce Leaves — Pecan Meats
Mayonnaise

Carefully peel firm, ripe bananas; cut into strips and arrange on a bed of lettuce leaves. Moisten with lemon-juice, cover with pecan meats; dot over with mayonnaise, and serve chilled.

Cucumber Salad in Boats

1 Cucumber — Mayonnaise Dressing
Diced Celery — Lettuce Leaves
Pimentos — Sliced Pickled Beets

A good sized cucumber will make two boats in which to serve it; do not pare the cucumbers, just wipe with a damp cloth, then cut in two, lengthwise, and scoop out as much cucumber as possible, a portion of which should be used in the salad. Cut the cucumber meat into small cubes; mix with diced celery and pimentos, fill the boats; cover with mayonnaise and serve on lettuce leaves. Garnish with sliced pickled beets.

A Crisp Spring Salad

Lettuce — Cheese
Hard-Boiled Eggs — New Onions
Sliced Tomatoes — Mayonnaise Dressing

Line a salad bowl with tender lettuce leaves; cover with a layer of hard-boiled eggs, thinly sliced, then a layer of cheese, another of lettuce, one of thinly sliced, new onions, then one of lettuce. Over this put a layer of silced tomatoes, cover the top with grated cheese, dot generously with mayonnaise dressing, and serve.

Orange and English Walnut Salad

English Walnut Meats
Oranges
Malaga Grapes
French Dressing

Toss together equal quantities of English walnut meats and orange. Break the nut meats into fourths; remove the skin from each section of orange and cut into pieces. Remove the seeds and skins from an equal part of Malaga grapes and mix. Serve in orange cups with sharp French dressing. Baskets made of the orange peels are also attractive receptacles for this salad.

Grapefruit Salad

Grapefruit — White Seeded Grapes
Lettuce Leaves — Mayonnaise Dressing

Peel the fruit and carefully divide each lobe into four parts, removing all the white membrane. Arrange on lettuce leaves, add some white, seeded grapes; pour over all a rich mayonnaise dressing, and serve cold.

Cherry Salad

Large Red Cherries
Nuts
Lettuce
Salad Dressing

Remove the stones from large red cherries, fill the cavity with nuts, arrange on crisp, white lettuce leaves, and serve chilled with a highly seasoned French salad dressing.

Okra and Tomatoes

Okra — Sliced Tomatoes
French Dressing — Mint

Boil young and tender okra till done; place on ice and let it become chilled. Serve with French dressing and a garnish of sliced tomatoes around the dish, with bits of mint placed here and there between the slices.

Tomato Salad Cups

Tomatoes — Chopped Celery
Minced Cold Fowl — Cress
Chopped Almonds — Mayonnaise Dressing

These cups are easy to make if the tomatoes are firm enough to hold their shape when hollowed out; every particle of the seed pulp should be removed. With some of this, mix minced, cold fowl, chopped almonds and celery; fill the cup with this; place on a nest of cress, and put a heaping spoonful of mayonnaise on top of each. Garnish with a sprig of cress.

Appetizing Spanish Salad

Cold Boiled Ham — Mayonnaise Dressing
Neufchatel Cheese — Crumbled Yolk of a Hard-Boiled Egg
Lettuce — Spanish Onions

Mix tiny bits of cold boiled ham with Neufchatel cheese; pile on a lettuce leaf inside of separate rings of small Spanish onions. On this put a spoonful of mayonnaise and the crumbled yolk of a hard-boiled egg.

Pineapple Salad

2 Cups Shredded Pineapple — Lettuce Leaves
1 Cup Diced Celery — Salad Dressing
1 Cup Nuts — Powdered Sugar
Whipped Cream

Two cups of shredded pineapple, one cup of diced celery and two-thirds of a cup of nuts. Serve on crisp, head lettuce leaves with a boiled salad dressing, to which has been added some powdered sugar and whipped cream.

STUDIO NEWS AND GOSSIP

Cohan Praises Roberts

Theodore Roberts, eminent character actor of stage and screen is all "fussed up." In a recent interview George M. Cohan said that Mr. Roberts was the greatest character actor of the day. "I have never received a tribute that I appreciate more," said Mr. Roberts when he read Mr. Cohan's opinion of him. "I do not know Mr. Cohan. Our work has never thrown us together. Because of that I appreciate the compliment all the more."

Arbuckle Likes Fried Eggs

Roscoe Arbuckle has a lot of eggs in his current Paramount picture, "Freight Prepaid." One of the scenes is a kitchen in a hash house. It is his film duty to fry eggs. In his road day Roscoe learned the art. Therefore, he fried the eggs in a way most appetizing, and, later, when the director wasn't looking, ate the whole batch, a dozen or more.

"Wild Honey" for Priscilla

Cynthia Stockley's story, "Wild Honey," has been purchased by Universal as a starring vehicle for Priscilla Dean, who is now working in the closing scenes of "Conflict" in the forests of British Columbia. "Wild Honey" has to do with the fortunes and misfortunes of a lovely girl in the Transvaal.

Lewis Stone, Jane Novak, Wallace Beery, Robert Gordon, Dore Davidson and Mildred June are in the cast that will produce "The Rosary" at the Selig studio in Los Angeles.

POPULAR SCIENCE

Much as has been written about sunspots and the weather, the connection between them is still very imperfectly understood. The recent appearance of an exceptionally large spot, with attendant electrical and magnetic phenomena, has led C. E. P. Brooks to look up the extensive literature, and he has reported to the meterological magazine that definite conclusions are yet far away. As early as 1651, Riccioli decided that temperature fell as sunspots developed, rising as they decreased. In 1844 an eleven year periodicity was discovered; and Koppen in 1944 gave results showing that the temperature maximum was reached just before the sunspot minimum, while the lowest temperature was near the maximum of spots. In the tropics, rainful and the height of lakes and streams have been positively asscoiated with sunspots. Tropical hurricanes and sunspots appear to be related, and wind studies in the Falkland islands indicate that the sunspots maximum brings the greatest storminess.

It is declared that any thread that exists can be made visible. Dutch physicists estimate that with the ultra-microscope a filament having a diameter equal to one-millionth of that of the hydrogen molecule can be detected, and that a thread one ten-thousandth inch thru should be shown by the ordinary microscope.

State experiments indicate that soybean hay is a valuable addition to forage crops. It contains a large proportion of digestible protein, and in feeding value has proven to be superior to red clover and cow-peas, while equal to alfalfa for milk and butter production. Mixed with hay, etc., it is an excellent winter ration for young cattle, sheep, and horses. It is also desirable for hogs, but mixture is advisable, as when used alone digestive disturbances are likely to result from the relatively high proportion of protein.

The torsion balance of Baron R. Eotvos of the University of Budapest, was designed for measuring the variation of gravity over quite short distances and studying the shape of the earth. It has been used also for locating mineral deposits in localities where the mineral differed very materially in density from the surrounding rocks.

Glendale Chapter of the American Red Cross is planning an intensive campaign for used clothes for shipment to needy persons in Central and Eastern Europe. This phase of the foreign production program is being conducted in cooperation with the American Friends Service Committee.

Nation-wide appeal for contributions of used clothing is being made through The Saturday Evening Post, The Ladies Home Journal, and the Country Gentleman, in which prospective donors are instructed to get in touch with the nearest Red Cross representative or Chapter.

The call is for all kinds of warm and serviceable clothing in good condition, or for materials out of which to make garments. The local Chapter will receive contributions during August, and every interested citizen in Glendale is urged to remember that some garment he can do without may be just THE garment that will save the life of some suffering child. Garments for all ages are badly needed. They should be clean and in good repair.

Distribution is made in Czecho-Slovakia, Austria, Hungary, Poland, the Balkan and Baltic States, by the American Red Cross, through its Child Welfare Units, and other distribution machinery, and in Poland, Austria, Germany and Russia, by the American Friends Service Committee. Working in close cooperation in the countries in which both organizations are active, their representatives are careful to avoid duplication of effort.

Clothing may be left at the fire stations on East Broadway and Los Feliz road, and also at 347 North Brand Boulevard.

MRS. H. E. BARTLETT,
Chairman.

CHANGE MADE FOR TOURISTS

Pictures in Museum of the Louvre "Standardized" With Idea of Pleasing Americans.

Even that sedate, historic pile, the Museum of the Louvre, has not escaped the effects of the "preparation" which all Paris has been undergoing for the reception of the American tourist. It was decided some time ago that the old method of hanging the pictures according to their merits and according to the lighting effect desired was too haphazard and too prone to confuse the visitor who was unfamiliar with the old works, their period and school. Some one suggested "standardization." There was a howl from the French press, which shrank from the thought of touching even a picture cord in the famous gallery, but the thought was advanced that if the coming thousands of American visitors to Paris were to properly enjoy the pictures they should be properly classified according to their period and school. This has been done, and now one passes through the big rooms as one might a department store. Here are works of the early Italian painters, here those of the Italian renaissance, there those of the early Flemish school and there the products of early Spanish genius. The Louvre, of course, is a sacred rite. Now it's a rite simplified, standardized and somewhat stereotyped. Some pictures which require strong light are almost in the dark, and others which would benefit by a somber surrounding suffer a glare. The guide calls this a "systeme American." Despite it the Louvre remains a rare treat.—World Traveler.

TURK LOSING HOLD IN EUROPE

Vast Empire Once Under the Crescent Has Been Slowly Dwindling Since the Year 1699.

Those who were in hopes that Turkey might take herself, "bag and baggage, out of everything" and have seen a setback to their hopes in the Sevres revision, can cheer up a bit by looking at the map, says the Christian Science Monitor. The chart of the Ottoman empire as it has existed since 1686 presents, indeed, a hopeful sight. The empire slowly and surely has been going back to first things. The crumbling began in 1699, when Transylvania, Slovakia and a chunk of Poland and Hungary were lost. The Banat went in 1717, the Bukowina in 1775, the Taurida and the Crimea in 1783, and the Odessa district in 1792. The next century was even more disastrous for Turkey, who lost Bessarabia in 1812, a part of Serbia in 1817, Georgia and Greece in 1829, Algeria in 1830, Bulgaria in 1876, northern Armenia, Rumania and more of Serbia in 1878, Tunisia and some of Greece in 1881, and Egypt in 1882. Nor has the present century been behind its predecessor. Libya was a great loss in 1912, following the annexation by Austria in 1908 of Bosnia and Herzegovina; 1913 proved particularly unfortunate for the Turks in the Balkans, and last year there slipped from their grasp the Hedjaz, Mesopotamia, Syria, Palestine, the strips along the Persian gulf, Smyrna and some of Armenia. It is a tale of consistent disaster.

Safety-First Doors.

Nearly every one suffers pangs of anxiety when they see a child leaning far out of a railway carriage window or pressing with its full weight against a door. Soon parents will not need to tell their children to "come away at once!" for an automatic locking device has been designed by a member of the Immingham Dock staff of the Great Central Railway company.

By this new invention the carriage door automatically locks itself, and cannot be opened when the train is in motion, except by a special key, which will be in charge of the guard. This key will unlock the doors even when they have been strained by intent or accident, and when the train slows down the doors automatically unlock themselves.

The new device is worked from the axle of the carriage and can be applied to single carriages.—Exchange.

It Was Up to Her.

A woman had just been hurt and carried into the drug store when the girl reporter dashed up. She gathered the particulars from one who had witnessed the accident and then went after details. First came the woman's name. She asked several persons and then a man who had been listening to her questions said irritably: "Oh, you curious women! Why don't you wait until tonight. We can read all about it in the paper then."

"No you can't," she returned hotly, "not unless I find out and write it."—Exchange.

Made Pathway in Desert.

Wire mesh is stated to have given quite surprising results in the construction of military roads. In Egypt, loose sand was smoothed, then chicken wire was fastened down over it, and the road so consolidated proved to be easily passable for troops and motor transports. The damage was slight, though after the passing of animal-drawn vehicles much repairing was necessary.

When Love Goes, Should Engagements Be Ended?

By NEWTON C. PARKE,
(By International News Service)

LONDON.—Has a man the right to jilt a girl whom he is engaged to marry?

The question has been raised by London newspapers following a statement made by Justice McCardie in a breach of promise case at Birmingham.

"It is my conclusion," said the justice, "that more than half the divorces are caused because the parties were not really in love. In many cases they discovered that fact before the marriage took place. A girl has a right to jilt a man but a man often goes ahead with the marriage, fearing breach of promise proceedings."

The Marchioness Townshend said she thought any honest man would tell his fiancee that he had ceased to love her, regardless of the risk of a breach of promise suit.

"The remarkable thing is that so many girls fail to realize that the men to whom they are engaged no longer love them," she added.

Miss Genevieve Ward, English actress, said that an engaged girl should be glad to get rid of a man who has transferred his affections to another without thinking of breach of promise suits.

The Daily Mail, canvassing a number of "practical business girls," reports that they prefer to have their finances tell them the truth before the trip to the altar. They are generally opposed to breach of promise actions, but believe that a girl who has spent a lot of money for a wedding outfit should be reimbursed by a jilting fiance.

"The right to love carries with it the right to "jilt," announces one writer. "If a man or woman finds that the early attraction is passing, it is therefore their bounden duty to break off. The day may arrive when damages will be awarded, not for correcting a very human mistake on the threshold of disaster, but for failing to correct it. There ought to be a way of avoiding these disasters without undue penalty. For there is nothing quite so hideous, or quite so hopeless as a loveless marriage."

A SMILE OR TWO FOR YOU

Fifty-Fifty

Two girls, unfamiliar with baseball, were watching the local nine play a visiting team last Saturday.

"Isn't that fine?" remarked one girl. "We have a man on every base."

"Why, that's nothing," said the other, "so have they."

Tender One Preferred

WANTED—Elderly lady for cooking in home of young married couple. Call L-622-J1.

The Next Move

Those moral preachers who designed the moral gown for women, did a good job. Now to design a woman who will wear it.

The Question

"Now, friends and comrades," said the street-corner politician, after a long speech made in the pouring rain, "any questions?"

"Yes," piped all that remained of his audience, an urchin, "can I 'ave the box yer standin' on, to make a go-cart with?"

Illegal Human Nature

"Some of the laws you have helped to frame have not been rigidly observed."

"I'm not complaining," replied Senator Sorghum. "Even Moses could not insure a strict enforcement of so simple and explicit a set of rules as the Ten Commandments."

Mark of True Gentleman

In a large park in one of the eastern cities, there are seats about the bandstand with this notice printed upon them:

"The seats in the vicinity of the bandstand are for the use of ladies. Gentlemen should make use of them only after the former are seated."

Higher Mathematics

The teacher had been explaining fractions to her class. When she had discussed the subject at length, wishing to see how much light had been shed, she inquired:

"Now, Bobbie, which would you rather have, one apple or two halves?"

The little chap promptly replied: "Two halves."

"Oh, Bobby," exclaimed the young woman, a little disappointedly, "why would you prefer two halves?"

"Because then I could see if it was bad inside."

Her Preference

A small girl was "afraid of the dark." Her mother, anxious to overcome this weakness, said, as she was leaving her: "Remember, darling, that an angel will still be with you when I take the candle away."

"Mummy," pleaded a small voice, "I'd much rather you took the angel and left the candle."

Trying Pidgin English

There was a prominent lawyer in San Francisco who prided himself on his astuteness in questioning Chinese witnesses. He was very near-sighted, however, and on one occasion got into difficulty through failing to notice that the dress of a Chinese witness was of finer texture than that worn by the ordinary coolie. The following dialogue ensued:

"What is your name?"

"Sell Lung."

"Do you live in San Francisco?"

"Yes."

"Do you savvy God?"

"Mr. Attorney, if you mean to ask whether I comprehend the entity of our Creator, I will merely reply that on next Thursday evening I shall address the State Ministerial association upon the subject of 'The Divinity of Christ,' and I shall be pleased if you will attend."

To the day of his death the celebrated lawyer will never escape the question: "Do you savvy God?"

What He Said

The Sunday school teacher was talking to her class about Solomon and his wisdom.

"When the Queen of Sheba came and laid jewels and fine raiment before Solomon, what did he say?" she asked presently.

One small girl, who evidently had experience in such matters, replied promptly: "'Ow much do yer want for the lot?"

The Uses of Adversity

Some people argue that we ought to "give up" Ireland. But wouldn't it be just as well to retain her as a sparring partner?

The Difficulty

Father—"You ought to go to work now; you have reached your majority."

Graduate—"Yes, but mine isn't a working majority."

Where They're Needed

A large number of snakes have reached London from the New York Zoo. Now that the country is settling down to prohibition, Americans can no longer bear to see them.

Cheering Her Up

To a priest came a young woman one day, who had an exaggerated idea of her charms and who confessed she feared she had a besetting sin.

"And what is it?" asked the priest, kindly.

"It is this," she replied, her eyes cast down. "Every time I pass a mirror I think of my beauty."

"Faith, daughter," replied the priest, "That's no sin at all. Just a slight mistake, daughter, just a trifling error in judgment."

Bad Sign

Lady—"Aren't you ashamed to beg? You are so ragged I am ashamed of you myself."

Hobo—"Yes, it is a kind of a reflection on the generosity of the neighborhood, mum."

Knocking the Board

The Parson (at the table, to fellow boarder)—"My dear sir, theology does not teach the existence of a literal hell, but merely that a potential hell lies within each one of us at this moment."

The Landlady (overhearing)—"You force me to remind you, Mr. Smith, that you may leave at once if you are dissatisfied."

THRILLS GALORE AT THE GLENDALE

Earle Williams was supposed to get into lots of trouble in the role of Bob Bellamy in his new Vitagraph production, "Diamonds Adrift," but he found some he was not bargaining for. The picture, which is a Vitagraph production and produced under the direction of Chester Bennett, will be shown today at the Glendale Theatre.

After defending himself with a mandolin against a murderous attack by an infuriated Mexican with an ugly knife, in the picture play, Bob escapes to sea in an open boat, to be picked up by the mail steamer, eight miles out, with the beautiful Senorita Consuela Velasco, daughter of the port collector. Velasco had pledged his lovely young daughter to marriage to Don Manuel Morales, an ugly and villainous Mexican, and Bob spirited her away on the morning of the day she was to have become an unwilling bride.

Earle Williams and his leading lady, Beatrice Burnham, did not know the mail steamer had been delayed, but such was the case. The boat drifted for an hour, with the motor boat bearing the director and cameramen following along, before the lights of a steamer appeared in the distance. Williams hurriedly lighted a Coston light, the distress signal by night at sea.

The steamer changed her course and drew down to pick up the drifting boat. Soon it became apparent that it was not the expected mail steamer at all, but a smaller vessel. In a few minutes the angry and suspicious commander of a Mexican gunboat was asking sharpe questions of the motion picture folk.

The warship's searchlight kept playing upon the charming senorita, in her pretty Spanish costume, and there were mutterings aboard the gunboat about her presence there with the "Gringo."

Finally a display of the motion picture cameras and a complete explanation of the situation appeared to satisfy the Mexican commander, and the boats were allowed to go on their way to await the coming of the mail steamer.

The eighth episode of the feature serial "The Diamond Queen" will also eb shown today. Eileen Sedgwick is the star in this thrilling picture.

BARBARA CHANDLER HOSTESS AT PARTY

Little Barbara Chandler, daughter of Attorney Charles L. Chandler, was the hostess Monday afternoon at a party in celebration of her eighth birthday. Her guests were Hedwig Peckham, Margaret Blake, Hedwig Mader, and Meta Chandler. After a jolly afternoon of games party refreshments were served. The decorations included a birthday cake bearing eight candles.

LOOT FRUIT STAND

Thieves entered the fruit stand of S. Sterns, Verdugo road and Colorado street, last night, and carried away some watermelons and ice cream.

SMOKED GLASSES FOR BAD MORALS

MANCHESTER, N. H., Aug. 9.—Smoked glasses for men were suggested by the Rev. Herpert Whitlock, pastor of the People's Baptist tabernacle, in a sermon. He said they should be restrained from staring at the women who resort to paint, powder and bare knees to attract attention. He declared that women so garbed are only creating a false impression and points to women who dress simply and less attractively as being more intelligent.

The Rev. Whitlock says Manchester streets are getting worse than Broadway. "It is now time," he said, "to save men who stand on the street corners and stare at short skirts and rolled-down stockings. These men should be equipped with heavy smoked glasses."

If you work too hard nobody ever seems to step in and demand that you slow down unless it's the doctor, and he is usually too late.
